paramount importance of the role of the state in the development of the nation.

It is the duty of the state to ensure that the interests of the people are protected and that the nation is developed in a just and equitable manner.

The state should also ensure that the rights and freedoms of the individual are protected and that the social and economic conditions of the people are improved.

In order to achieve these goals, the state must have the authority to regulate the economy and to control the distribution of resources.
